Essay Topic Options:

1. AAIA's International Repatriation Project supports the return of Indigenous ancestors, funerary and sacred objects and objects of cultural patrimony from international repositories, including museums, private collections and auction houses. Why is this important and how would you inform others about it?
2. AAIA is a partner in the Annie E. Casey Foundation's Juvenile Detention Alternatives Initiative (JDAI). What are some viable tribal and community based alternatives to detention for juveniles who have committed non violent offenses? Are these alternatives successful toward rehabilitation and prevention of crime? Why or why not?
3. Attaining higher levels of education has long been touted as a means toward improving the lives of Native people. If you were a tribal leader, how would you promote higher education in your family and community? How would you promote higher education to non Native Americans who believe that Native Americans are provided for by gaming revenue and government resources?
